McGreer 100

The Agora

Bishop Williams Hall

McGreer 100 (Tomlinson) was built in 1846, McGreer Hall is synonymous with Bishop's University and an architectural icon to all who see it. Named for Arthur Huffman McGreer (1883-1947), Principal of Bishop's from 1922 to 1947, the building is the administrative hub of the institution.

With its formal appearance, our Tomlinson Room is the perfect venue for executive meetings. Surrounded by history, participants will be immersed in a unique working atmosphere.

Bishop Williams Hall is a 130-seat auditorium with two screens and two projectors, ideal for simultaneous or bilingual presentations. Located in Johnson Hall, with nearby classrooms for workshops.

Classrooms

Whether you are planning a conference, workshop, camp or seminar, you'll find what you are looking for in our array of classrooms and academic spaces. Take a look at our fully equipped, multimedia classrooms and know that you will be guided every step of the way thanks to our friendly and supportive staff.

Agora McConnell

Located in the newly renovated Learning Commons, the new agora, with a capacity of 100 people, is modern, spacious and equipped with the latest technology. Your guests will be in awe of its unique design, laureate of the "Prix Architecture 2019 de bibliothèque et centres d'archives du Québec".

Paterson Hall

Participants will love taking their health break on the outside patio adjoining Paterson Hall.

The Gait

Multipurpose room amenable to all kinds of set-ups. Ideally located in the heart of the campus, within steps of the cafeteria, residence halls and classrooms. Adjacent to the International Student Centre, where the organizing committee's headquarters could be established. The Gait is also equipped with a bar and a dance floor for dinners and social events.
